2/22/2020 9:32:36	No	The breaks during the year are too long., Impacts personal work schedule - would not put kids in childcare for two weeks - they would much rather be at school. Huge financial impact to family.
2/22/2020 9:34:15	Yes	This works for my family.
2/22/2020 9:34:22	I'm still not sure.	This works for my family., I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., I still need more information.
2/22/2020 9:34:47	No	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., The school year starts too early in August for my family., This calander is a way to further promote segregation in the community. However, it seems that this is never a concern at CFCI and it is not surprising that the perpetuation of segregation is continuing.
2/22/2020 9:35:04	Yes	Never had issue calendar. DO have issue with how long it's taking to make decision as it is holding up a legal process for our family.
2/22/2020 9:38:42	Yes	This works for my family.
2/22/2020 9:39:09	No	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., It's too different from the district where my other child(ren) attend., The school year starts too early in August for my family., I attended the board meeting on Tuesday. Our family has been at CFCI since my now 4th grade son was in Kindergarten. I have been substituting since then and have volunteered with the partnership and extensively in classrooms over the years. This is to say that I care deeply about our teachers, our school and our mission. While most of the meeting last night was chock full of facts and figures, I was surprised and concerned about the lack of data presented about the school calendar. Perhaps I missed references to studies or actual data at past meetings, but I was astounded at the absence of survey data, other school districts' calendars, references to studies or any other real data to support this change. The main reason presented was a break for the teachers to prevent burnout - again without data presented. I understand personally and professionally about teacher burnout, having worked in education myself for 20 years. I 100% support CFCI teachers and absolutely believe that they need additional support. However, if teacher burnout is the real problem, have we - as a school of inquiry nonetheless - explored, investigated and problem solved that concern before leaping into this band aid that doesn't actually address the core issue? It concerns me that we would move forward with a calendar that might benefit 20 or so teachers to overhaul the schedules of 300 or so families just to give them a break, especially without any data to support that this change is the answer. I believe the new calendar will put unnecessary burden on our families to find child care and complicate schedules for those of us with children (and in our case, two parents who are educators) in other districts. Whatever the board decides, I would hope that they move forward with clearly presented data and that it be shared with parents. I asked to see the actual data from the survey and was simply told the percentage numbers again. I hope that the board has seen, or will ask to see, the raw data for themselves to get an unbiased view of what families are saying either way. The suggestion by administration that this information would be difficult to aggregate is absurd. We are unexpectedly under new leadership under a veil of silence about why and for how long, and to be honest I don't have a lot of trust in the direction we are heading. CFCI has been represented poorly in the news, we are without a director, and a beloved sub has just been fired - teachers are burnt out and parents are frustrated. We are counting on the board to provide guidance and stability in this time of uncertainty, and I don't believe making a change this big is prudent during this tumultuous year, especially without the data that overwhelmingly supports it.

2/22/2020 9:47:22	No	It's too different from the district where my other child(ren) attend., The breaks during the year are too long., The school year starts too early in August for my family., I do not know if the place we have childcare will offer care during the times that do not align to breaks with NHCS. Also, this will be a financial burden to acquire childcare for extra week-long breaks.
2/22/2020 9:55:16	I'm still not sure.	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks.
2/22/2020 9:57:36	Yes	This works for my family., It will improve student learning., It provides me with greater flexibility to plan vacations in the fall and spring when they are a lot cheaper because they are not "peak" times. It also spreads out the cost of camps/childcare so I'm not paying so much in the summer. If CFCI does not adopt this calendar but NHCS does, I will consider switching to public school when my child reaches middle school in a few years. I just prefer the modified schedule that much.
2/22/2020 9:58:23	No	The school year starts too early in August for my family.

2/22/2020 10:12:21	Yes	This works for my family., It will improve student learning., It reduces burnout for teachers. It's a privilege to go to a school of choice where I otherwise would not have one for my child. Too many reasons offered here that support an opposition to the calendar, thus prolonging the decision, which is not productive overall. The act of offering a final opinion is a fair extension of consideration. A yes or no question would have sufficed, a ratio.
2/22/2020 10:12:50	Yes	This works for my family.
2/22/2020 10:12:52	I'm still not sure.	Thanksgiving break is not like year round or traditional. Other breaks also do not quite coincide for a day on either end. I want to go towards year round, but it has to match year round a bit more.
2/22/2020 10:13:15	I'm still not sure.	It's too different from the district where my other child(ren) attend.
2/22/2020 10:14:56	No	The school year starts too early in August for my family., We would like to start school later in August and end later in June

2/22/2020 10:23:27	No	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., The school year starts too early in August for my family., Please also look at Preschool calendars in the area. Also, moving the start date up this significantly will lead to kids missing the first week of school since we signed up and paid for summer camp 4 months ago.
2/22/2020 10:23:54	Yes	This works for my family., Love a fall break!!!
2/22/2020 10:23:59	Yes	This works for my family., It will improve student learning., Please implement. CFCI has been discussing this change for several years now. We'll never know if it works better unless given the opportunity to try.

2/22/2020 11:01:48	Yes	It will improve student learning., It is "quite" different, not "too" different, Than my other child's school schedule, but we will manage.
2/22/2020 11:03:52	I'm still not sure.	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., The breaks during the year are too long., Overall, I like the calendar, but The break in late-March-early April is excessively long: the week of 3/21-4/2, leading to Easter, is reasonable, but the 2nd week of 4/5-4/9 seems to be much. How would working parents accommodate another 7 days? Or does this correspond to other public schools' vacation that year? Besides, these two weeks would then be followed by another school-free Monday on 4/12. The childcare would be a huge issue if it is only our school that takes 15 days in the middle of a normal month.
2/22/2020 11:04:42	Yes	This works for my family.
2/22/2020 11:06:27	Yes	This works for my family., It will improve student learning.
2/22/2020 11:28:24	I'm still not sure.	I will have issues finding childcare during breaks., Concerned about the extra teacher workdays on top of long breaks for childcare. Will AlphaBest have enough spots for more students? My current childcare will keep year round students for long breaks. Will CFCI breaks match year round breaks?

2/22/2020 12:34:38	Yes	It will improve student learning.
2/22/2020 12:54:54	No	The school year starts too early in August for my family., Summer vacation time is very important to our family and those first few weeks in August are when we always take vacation. Starting school that early will be an inconvenience for our family (and could result in my daughter missing more days of school). I hope starting later in August will be considered...looks like a very short summer break to me. :(

2/22/2020 13:26:26	Yes	This works for my family.
2/22/2020 13:26:28	I'm still not sure.	The other calendar was fine I'd rather the school focus on other important issues such as advocating for the teachers instead of trying to make every parent happy thus resulting in inadequate support for our teachers. Come on guys! Get it together.
2/22/2020 13:51:38	No	I do not want breaks for this long. While I know that it could be a good refresher for teachers and students, I don't want to have to find and pay for childcare for my child during these extra long breaks. I feel it is a completely unfair schedule for households with two working parents and it seems that this schedule was made with teachers and stay-at-home parents in mind. NO THANK YOU!

Most schools don't start till the middle or the end of August I don't think there needs to be a 2 week long spring break especially if you want to limit regression of skill. From what is on the calendar they basically just come off a two week vacation in for December. I just think the vacation for spring break is too long.
